Ellen
 Clegg

Ellen Clegg, the daughter of Isaac and Elizabeth Highman Walmsley, was born January 5, 1816, at Parish Salisbury near Preston, Lancashire, England. She was married to Jonathan Clegg and became the mother of five children, three sons and two daughters. Her husband joined the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in September 1837 and she became a member March 25, 1838. The Clegg family were among the many converts who sailed on the ship Horizon under the supervision of Edward Martin. When they arrived in Iowa City, Iowa, they were assigned to the handcart company under the same leader.

During this tragic trek across the plains Ellen and her good husband would take their lantern and go from tent to tent doing everything in their power to relieve the suffering of the men, women and children. The company arrived in Salt Lake City on the 30th of November, and a few days later the Cleggs left for Provo, Utah County, and then moved to Provo Valley, later called Heber. After she was settled in her new home "Grandma Clegg" continued to bestow love and comfort to those around her. More than one poor mother had reason to bless the name and remember the kindness of Ellen Clegg, midwife. Sometimes she had to go on horseback, sometimes in a sleigh, and more often she had to walk, but her one great thought was that she was going to help some suffering mother struggling in the valley of the shadow of death to give life and happiness to a mother of God's children. Many of the younger children at that time thought Ellen Clegg was really their own grandmother, because they had been taught to call her "Grandma Clegg." At the age of eighty-four years, on October 30, 1899, Ellen Clegg passed away. — Ethel D. Johnson
